Supreme Court May Study 'Private Club' Legality

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Supreme Court appeal that could begin to crumble the last great citadel of discrimination—private clubs—has won the potent support of the Justice Department.

Moving much as it did before another landmark civil rights decision a year ago, the government Friday jumped to the assistance of two Negro women who claimed they were banned from a nominally private swim club in Arkansas.

In the earlier case, a private suit was elevated to a government crusade when the Justice Department backed a plea brought by a racially mixed St. Louis couple who were unable to buy the house they wanted.

The result was the monumental court decision last June that more than 100 years ago Congress had prohibited racial discrimination in housing sales and rentals.

The government is basing its argument in the current case on the same law which gave Negroes freed in the Civil War the right to "make and enforce contracts without discrimination."

The women, Mrs. Doris Daniel and Mrs. Rosalyn Kyles, want to use Lake Nixon, a club 12 miles west of Little Rock that offers swimming, picnicking, boating, sun bathing and miniature golf.

The club charges a membership fee of 25 cents, giving it a private character beyond the reach, so far, of modern-day civil rights law.

Entering the case as a "friend of the court," the Justice Department insisted the 1866 law "prohibits all private, racially motivated conduct which denies or interferes with the Negroes' right to enter into contracts to purchase that which is freely sold to white citizens. That membership in the Lake Nixon Club is a contractual relationship can hardly be denied."

The government said the equal accommodations section of the 1964 civil rights law also forces Lake Nixon—and nominally private clubs like it—to open their doors to Negro members.

The reason, the government said, is that by importing juke boxes, records and 15 paddle boats from out of state and by serving interstate travelers at a snack bar, the club is in interstate commerce and therefore forbidden to discriminate.

As welcome as the Nixon administration's action will be to civil rights forces, it goes just so far.

It does not encompass what the government called bona fide private clubs. "Purely social or personal arrangements are beyond the intended reach of the 1866 law," the department said.

President Says Time Here For Tax, Money Reforms

New Thinking Is Required Of Treasury

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon says the time is ripe for tax reform and he wants the Treasury Department to "think in completely new terms" about it.

Describing the current tax system as something that has "grown like Topsy out of necessity," Nixon said Friday that "congress is now receptive to change."

Nixon commented during a goodwill visit to the Treasury, part of the round of visits he has made to all but one of his Cabinet departments. He also went to Health, Education and Welfare Friday and said he will go to Interior next week.

Nixon said the reassessment he is recommending for tax reform also should be applied to international matters.

"Now is the time to examine the international monetary system where its strengths are, where its weaknesses are," he said.

At HEW, Nixon told employees he was once a minor government lawyer and considered it a "pretty low form of life."

He added, however, that in looking back he realizes the job he did as a P-3 government lawyer working on tire regulations in 1942 was important.

"Our job at the top can only be done if we let people up and down the line know we know what they're doing and appreciate what they're doing," he said.

Earlier in the day, Nixon signed an executive order creating an Office of Intergovernmental Relations to be run by Vice President Spiro T. Agnew.

He indicated its main task would be coordinating relations with state and local governments, but neither he nor Agnew gave any specifics.

Nixon also established a new White House post to keep former presidents informed of important developments.

Retired Brig. Gen. Robert L. Schulz, an aide to former President Eisenhower, was named to the job that eventually will pay $30,000 a year. Schulz, who remains an aide to Eisenhower, is drawing pay for that job, plus a pension and won't be compensated in the White House position.

Snow Rakes Wide Area Of Plains

Snow swept much of the Great Plains region today and slowed highway travel through an area from Oklahoma to Minnesota.

Cold rain chilled a wide stretch of the South and turned to sleet or snow in some upland sections of the Southeast.

Travelers warnings were in effect for portions of 16 states in the midcontinent and across the South.

A slow-moving weather system stretching the length of the plains heaped 6 to 14 inches of snow into parts of central Kansas, eastern Nebraska and southeastern South Dakota since Thursday night. Warnings of heavy snow were issued for northeastern Oklahoma.

Rain fell from Texas to Georgia through the night. Temperatures settled into the 30s over most of the region.

A new storm system bearing down on the Pacific Northwest scattered rain from Washington into central California. Travelers warnings were in effect for locally heavy snow in mountain areas of northern California.

Clear skies were confined to the northeastern quarter of the country which also was nipped by the coldest weather. Temperatures slid into the teens from Michigan to Massachusetts and south into Maryland.

The mercury tumbled to 9 below zero at Pellston, Mich., while Key West, Fla., had an overnight low of 72.

College Protests Continue; Police, Guard On Duty

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Police broke up a protest march by 2,000 University of Wisconsin students Friday night, part of the current wave of unrest on a number of the nation's college campuses.

Wisconsin's Chancellor H. Edwin Young had earlier withdrawn the 1,900 National Guardsmen from the campus and promised they would remain on standby "unless students renew campus disturbances."

At Duke University in Durham, N.C., 500 guardsmen remained at the ready two miles from the campus and President Douglas M. Knight's scheduled discussion of black students' demand this afternoon was postponed.

At San Francisco State College, three hecklers and the Negro director of the school's new Black studies Department were arrested Friday after they interrupted a speech by Acting President S.I. Hayakawa.

Nathan Hare, the director, led the hecklers onto the stage where Hayakawa was welcoming about 350 teachers for the spring semester which begins Monday. "Get the hell out of here!" Hayakawa barked at Hare. Laughing, Hare replied, "We're not going."

"This is a perfect example of their tactics to suppress freedom of speech," Hayakawa told the audience later during a lull in the noise. He was cheered when he pledged to keep the campus open "no matter what it takes."

Other Big Ports Not Affected

NEW YORK (AP) — Port of New York longshoremen return to work today after eight weeks on strike with a new three-year contract in their pockets, but negotiations continue at other Atlantic and Gulf Coast ports.

Longshoremen voted Friday, by 9,328 to 3,213, to accept the agreement reached on Jan. 14 by the New York Shipping Association and the International Longshoremen's Association.

The ballot was held under a federal court order secured by the National Labor Relations Board. Union officials had sought to block the vote until the others agreed to similar terms.

On the eve of the vote union leaders were urging ratification, apparently believing it would put pressure on the other ports. But William Arnett, chief negotiator for the West Coast Maritime Association in Galveston, Tex., said "A settlement in New York means only that—a settlement in New York."

Tentative agreements had already been reached in ports from Morehead City, N.C. to Puerto Rico but no breakthroughs have been reported at the larger ports.

Negotiations were set for this afternoon in Philadelphia. No definite time was decided on in Boston.

In Baltimore and Norfolk, Va., management associations presented what they called their "final offers" Friday after several weeks of intensive negotiations and said no more details were bargainable.

Peru Frees Fishing Boat; U.S. Angered

May Cut Off Military Aid To New Regime

LIMA, Peru (AP) — The Peruvian government has released an American tuna boat captured in the Pacific Friday, but Washington sources said the incident could precipitate a cutoff of U.S. aid to Peru.

The American vessel, Mariner was captured by a Peruvian navy gunboat which attacked a small fishing fleet more than 23 miles off the Peruvian coast. The skipper of another vessel reported his boat was peppered with machine gun fire before the gunboat was driven off.

No injuries were reported in the attack, which U.S. Secretary of State William P. Rogers called "wholly unjustified."

Peru's ambassador to the United States, Fernando Berckemeyer, said the American boats were operating in Peruvian waters without licenses. Peru claims territorial jurisdiction 200 miles out to sea, but the United States considers any boat in international waters if it is more than 12 miles off the coast.

State Officials Under Indictment In Fraud Case

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Louisiana's attorney general, a state legislator and two other men have been indicted on charges of obtaining money and property by fraud and conspiracy.

The 16-count indictment returned Friday by a federal grand jury stemmed from the bankruptcy of the Louisiana Loan & Thrift Corp., which had about 1,400 depositors and deposits of $2.5 million.

Jack P.F. Gremillion, state attorney general since 1954, said, "I am deeply shocked and surprised at the indictments. I will be completely vindicated."

The indictment accuses the five defendants of making false statements to prospective purchasers to stimulate sales of LL&T bond investment certificates and of diverting money from the firm to their own benefit.

Two Valentines were delivered at Berger Hospital Friday . . . Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Painter, 1010 Lynwood Ave., and Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Jordan, Route 4, became parents of daughters born on St. Valentine's Day.

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The 20-second movie filmed as a bullet smashed into President John F. Kennedy's head set off an angry protest Friday at Clay Shaw's conspiracy trial.

"The state's sole object is to prejudice the jury," shouted defense lawyer William Wegmann when the movie was screened for the second time of the day—the sixth time since it was introduced Thursday.

Criminal Dist. Court Judge Edward A. Haggerty overruled him. But the defense shouted another protest when the prosecution stopped the film on the frame showing the President's head with a bloody halo.

Dubcek Appears To Hold Power In Czechoslovakia

VIENNA (AP) — Moscow appears to have slackened its reins on Czechoslovakia's liberal leaders but Soviet occupation troops can tighten the reins at any time.

Prague's Communist party boss Alexander Dubcek, condemned by the Kremlin as a "revisionist" after the August invasion, has reappeared as the political strongman with an ideological offensive supporting the reform ideas that brought him to power in January 1968.

In a speech this week at his home town of Uhrovec, Slovakia, Dubcek said the nation's post-January reforms should not only be defended but pursued. He declared that communism in Czechoslovakia must continue to develop according to the country's liberal and democratic traditions.

"It will be no help for us to defend the post-January policy," said Dubcek. "It is necessary to develop all values of the post-January policy in our confrontation with the present, more complicated reality."

It was a marked change from other speeches by Czechoslovak leaders since the invasion. They had promised to try to retain some of the freedoms gained before the Soviet tanks rolled in, but also urged caution and warned the people not to hope for too much too soon.

Dubcek spoke like a man sure of his position. A week earlier he confidently told a meeting of high army officers that the Prague leadership had overcome "perhaps the most serious crisis since August." Dubcek also urged cleansing the party apparatus of conservatives who disagree with the party line.

The two speeches led observers to conclude the 47-year-old Dubcek had weathered a major confrontation with pro-Moscow hardliners and emerged on top, at least for the present.

Tuscarawas Valley Poverty Grant Set

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Appalachian Regional Commission has approved a $28,635 grant to the Tuscarawas Valley Regional Advisory Committee, Albert G. Giles, director, Ohio Department of Urban Affairs, announced.

The funds will assist in financing the development and administration of Ohio's Appalachian Plan in the eight-county district, and for maintenance of a central office. Counties in the district are Carroll, Coshocton, Guernsey, Harrison, Holmes, Jefferson, Muskingum and Tuscarawas.

Cuyahoga County CP Judge Dies

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Cuyahoga County Common Pleas Judge Gerald J. Celebrezze was presiding at a trial in the Criminal Courts Annex building Friday when he collapsed and died of an apparent heart attack.

Celebrezze, 38, had just finished explaining a point of law to lawyers at the larceny by trick trial of Jerome B. Weiss and Jack N. Abbott when he said: "Ladies and gentlemen, we'll take a short recess."

He collapsed before he could leave the courtroom.

Two policemen who were testifying in another courtroom were called to Judge Celebrezze's aid and attempted to give him mouth-to-mouth resuscitation while taking him to St. Vincent Charity Hospital where he was pronounced dead.

Assignment Commissioner Richard J. McDonnell said the judge had complained of chest pains "for the last couple of days."

Celebrezze, the father of seven children, defeated incumbent Common Pleas Judge Earl R. Hoover last November and took the bench in January.

He was the brother of Common Pleas Judge Frank D. Celebrezze and the nephew of Federal Court of Appeals Judge Anthony J. Celebrezze, a former Cleveland mayor who also served as secretary of Health, Education and Welfare in the Kennedy Administration.

Fluke Brings Wallet Thief To Justice

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — The odds were 400,000 to 1.

A month ago, William Schesbarger, a bartender, lost his billfold in a taxicab.

It was found by Robert Dodd, 26, who kept it and used Schesbarger's identification and credit cards to cash forged checks, police said.

This morning Dodd went into a Toledo bar and asked to cash a check.

"Well if you have identification," said the bartender.

The check was cashed and when Dodd went to a restroom, the bartender called police.

The bartender was Schesbarger.

Police said Dodd confessed and also began telling about other alleged crimes.

Asked why, Dodd replied: "In a city of 400,000, for this to have happened I might as well come clean."

Allies Ignore Red Vietnam Truce

SAIGON (AP) — Allied forces ignored the start of a Viet Cong cease-fire today and continued air strikes and 60 offensive operations of battalion size or larger.

The enemy stand-down for Tet, the lunar new year holiday that begins Monday, is scheduled to last until Feb. 22. A South Vietnamese government source said Saigon would announce a short allied truce for Monday.

But he said the government would not announce details of the cease-fire until 11 p.m. Saigon time (10 a.m. EST), because it feared the enemy might break their own cease-fire pledge as they did last year, when they hit Saigon and 120 towns and cities in their biggest offensive of the war.

U.S. intelligence sources said three major North Vietnamese divisions, the 1st, 7th and 9th, are in border areas near Cambodia and not in position right now to attack Saigon. They said elements of the North Vietnamese 5th Division do pose a threat in War Zone D, about 30 miles north of the capital.

"They're not in position to launch a significant attack on Saigon right now," said one source, "but that certainly doesn't preclude isolated terrorist attacks and small-scale assaults."

In Bien Hoa province east of Saigon, a man wearing the robes of a Buddhist monk poured gasoline over himself, lighted a match and burned to death, South Vietnamese authorities reported.

They said the incident occurred in front of a pagoda. No notes were found and no reason was determined for the action.

As the Viet Cong truce began some terrorist activity was reported but there was no major ground fighting.

Despite the allied spoiling operations, the Communist command said its armed forces "are capable of striking anywhere, any place, any time, from the cities to the rural areas."

In Paris, where the peace talks are stalled, the negotiators' attention was focused on the Feb. 28 visit of President Nixon.

There was widespread feeling Nixon's personal contact with chief U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge and other members of the delegation could lead to some new American initiative to break the deadlock.

Lodge took over the top role within hours of Nixon's inauguration Jan. 20 and the two have been in touch since the expanded talks began Jan. 25. But Lodge has not had a chance to make a face-to-face report on the deadlock which became apparent at the first meeting.

The Vietnam News Agency reported that Le Duc Tho, special adviser to the head of the North Vietnamese delegation in Paris, returned to Hanoi Thursday to report to his government.

Fluke Brings Wallet Thief To Justice

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — The odds were 400,000 to 1. A month ago, William Schessbarger, a bartender, lost his billfold in a taxicab.

It was found by Robert Dodd, 26, who kept it and used Schessbarger's identification and credit cards to cash forged checks, police said.

This morning Dodd went into a Toledo bar and asked to cash a check.

"Well if you have identification," said the bartender.

The check was cashed and when Dodd went to a restroom, the bartender called police.

Police said Dodd confessed and also began telling about other alleged crimes.

Asked why, Dodd replied: "In a city of 400,000, for this to have happened I might as well come clean."

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio State University's new $2.4 million School of Nursing building was dedicated Friday in ceremonies attended by Gov. James A. Rhodes.

There was widespread feeling Nixon's personal contact with chief U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge and other members of the delegation could lead to some new American initiative to break the deadlock.

Lodge took over the top role within hours of Nixon's inauguration Jan. 20 and the two have been in touch since the expanded talks began Jan. 25. But Lodge has not had a chance to make a face-to-face report on the deadlock which became apparent at the first meeting.

SAIGON (AP) — Allied forces ignored the start of a Viet Cong cease-fire today and continued air strikes and 60 offensive operations of battalion size or larger.

The enemy stand-down for Tet, the lunar new year holiday that begins Monday, is scheduled to last until Feb. 22. A South Vietnamese government source said Saigon would announce a short allied truce for Monday.

But he said the government would not announce details of the cease-fire until 11 p.m. Saigon time (10 a.m. EST), because it feared the enemy might break their own cease-fire pledge as they did last year, when they hit Saigon and 120

U.S. intelligence sources said three major North Vietnamese divisions, the 1st, 7th and 9th, are in border areas near Cambodia and not in position right now to attack Saigon. They said elements of the North Vietnamese 5th Division do pose a threat in War Zone D, about 30 miles north of the capital.

"They're not in position to launch a significant attack on Saigon right now," said one source, "but that certainly doesn't preclude isolated terrorist attacks and small-scale assaults."

Home Agent Tips

By Marjorie Wolford
Home Economics Agent

February may be the shortest month of the year, but you can make this February the most important month of all the years by taking a tip from the American Heart Association.

Their advice to homemakers is simple. "Preventive measures should be initiated early in life to have the best chance of preventing or retarding coronary heart disease. For example, correction of established adverse eating or smoking habits, while evidently beneficial, is certainly of less value than if the improper practice were never begun."

Doctors have set up simple but effective dietary guidelines for the housewife to follow: one, that weight control must be taken seriously; two, that limits be put on the intake of saturated fats and simple sugars.

In past years, it was thought that obesity ran in families, that it was inherited. But that is no longer the case. The overweight family usually has an overloaded mealtime table — and snacking, too.

Dependence on foods such as vegetables, cereals, and fruits to supply most of the dietary carbohydrates is preferable to excessive use of sugar, including candy, soft drinks, and other sweets. Here are four quick, easy ways using fresh citrus fruits to reduce the possibility of future heart disease:

1. Use a squeeze of fresh lemon instead of butter to season and perk up canned, frozen, or fresh vegetables.

2. Substitute a glass of fresh lemonade for that extra glass of milk.

3. Oranges, fresh and juiced are a satisfying ending to any meal and cut out pies, cakes, and cookies along with all their carbohydrates.

4. Change the children's cookie snack into a fresh fruit snack and you will be on your way to pleasing not only the doctor but the dentist, too!

Doctors point out that dietary habits which are formed during your children's developing years continue for a lifetime. So start giving your family a Valentine that will go on living and loving the rest of their lives — good eating habits.

Remember the time-honored definition of a boy? "A small clean area surrounded by large smudges." It's perfectly true that most children go through a period of preferring the mud-pie splatter effect to a soap and water shine. But they do grow up sometime — and if you've patiently hammered into their little heads the importance of cleanliness, good habits carry over into adult life.

This is a good reminder to impress on mothers — cleanliness habits started in childhood bring rich rewards in health later on. The oldest of all health laws is the one most often abused — simple cleanliness. While the human skin has great powers for disinfecting itself, it has been proved that the removal of dirt and germs from the skin helps it carry out its own self-disinfecting powers.

Tractor Costs Studied On Ohio Farms

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent,
Agriculture

How big a tractor is needed for farming operations on an Ohio farm? There is not, of course, any set answer to this question — it depends on the size of operation, and availability of labor, time and capital.

D. R. Miskell and E. T. Shaudys, Agricultural Economic Researchers for the Ohio Agricultural Research and Development Center, recently completed a cost analysis of tractors in use on 38 Ohio farms. Tractor operating costs ranged from a low of $1.13 per hour to a high of $7.50 per hour.

Detailed cost and use records were kept by the cooperating farmers for the entire year of 1967. Present value, straight-line depreciation, actual expenses for repairs and fuel, and fixed costs were considered in the final computation of annual and hourly costs.

The farms studied averaged 398 acres of cropland and had an average of 3.3 tractors per farm. Current value of all machinery on the farms averaged just under $25,000, a third of which was tied up in tractors.

TWO-PLOW tractors had costs of $2.75 per hour if used less than 100 hours per year. The cost dropped to $1.13 per hour with more than 300 hours of annual use. Highest cost in the study ($7.50 per hour) was for 3-4 plow tractors used fewer than 100 hours per year. This cost dropped to $2.13 per hour for 400-500 hours of annual use.

The economists report that when tractors were used to capacity, all tractor costs except labor were similar for plowing an acre of land regardless of tractor size.

Fixed overhead costs, including depreciation, interest, taxes, insurance and housing, accounted for 60 percent of the annual tractor costs on the 38 farms. Larger tractors had higher fixed costs in relation to total costs than did smaller tractors.

If labor or time available is not a limiting factor, point out the economists, the small tractor would be the best choice because of lower per hour operating costs. However, when time and labor are critical, the big tractor has the edge, even if hourly costs are greater.

Bird Resistant Sorghum Evaluated For Beef Cattle

By GEORGE HAMRICK
County Extension Agent,
Agriculture

Bird resistant grain sorghum hybrids have been introduced in Ohio as substitutes for corn in areas heavily damaged by flocks of migrating redwing blackbirds. These grain sorghums have been found to produce yields comparable to corn when managed properly.

Because many farmers in Ohio's cattle feeding areas are seriously considering increased plantings of bird resistant grain sorghum, animal scientists at the Ohio Agricultural Research and Development Center evaluated the feeding value of the crop for fattening beef cattle.

The Ohio feeding trials compared sorghum grain and sorghum silage with shelled corn and corn silage. Tests were conducted at Center headquarters at Wooster and at the OARDC Northwestern Branch in Wood County. Choice Hereford steers calves were used in the study.

Dr. Earle Klosterman, Associate Chairman of Animal Science, and Dr. William H. Newland, Area Extension Agent, Animal Industry, report that steers fed corn silage or corn grain rations gained faster, required fewer pounds of feed per 100 pounds of gain, and stored more energy per day than those fed either sorghum silage or sorghum grain rations.

The Salt Creek PTO met recently with Vice President David Fetherolf conducting the business meeting. Susan Martin gave the secretary report. The finance committee was named as follows: Mr. and Mrs. Don Minor, Mr. and Mrs. Ned Reichelderfer, Mr. and Mrs. Therrell Van Curen, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Strous, Mr. and Mrs. Don Imler, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Boldoser and Mr. and Mrs. Jim Hardman.

The program was in charge of Mrs. West's fifth grade, Miss Chilcote's 4th grade and Mrs. Stewart's 6th grade.

Mrs. West's fifth grade won room count with 20 parents present.

Program Committee in charge for the Feb. meeting will be Miss Mettler's fourth grade and Miss Eveland's 3rd grade.

Announcers for the program were Leatha Iles, Donald Minor, Mitch Martin, Lonnie Maxson, Steve Strous and Jeff Reichelderfer.

At the Northwestern Branch, finely-ground sorghum silage produced significantly better daily gains than more coarsely-ground sorghum silage.

IN digestion trials at Wooster, scientists found that corn silage is significantly more digestible than mature sorghum silage. Immature silage made from bird resistant grain sorghum was more digestible than silage made from mature sorghum, but still ranked below the digestibility of corn silage.

However, the researchers point out that more pounds of beef can be produced per acre of sorghum when the plant is ensiled at the mature stage because increased grain dry matter yields more than offset the lower digestibility of mature grain sorghum.

There is no effective, safe and economical method presently known for controlling the flocks of redwing blackbirds. Until agricultural researchers are able to develop such controls, bird resistant grain sorghum, in spite of its lower feeding value, may offer farmers the best choice of a grain crop if they are in the areas where the birds are a major problem.

Move To Save Scot Regiment Apparently Fails

LONDON (AP) — An emotional campaign to save a proud Scottish regiment from disbandment ran up against a final government veto today. The Argyll and Sutherland Highlanders seem to have fought their last battle.

Even a million-signature petition brought to the House of Commons in a bid to save the Argylls, who are due to be axed next year under government plans to streamline the British Army.

Gerry Reynolds, minister of defense for administration, told seven Scottish members of Parliament the government could see no alternative to disbanding the "wee tough" Scotsmen whose predecessors once formed the thin red line at Balaclava.

Reynolds made only one concession: that the name of the regiment would be kept alive as a unit of the Territorial Army Reserve, the equivalent of America's National Guard.

The organizers of the Save the Argylls campaign refused to admit defeat.

Agriculture

Bird resistant grain sorghum hybrids have been introduced in Ohio as substitutes for corn in areas heavily damaged by flocks of migrating redwing blackbirds. These grain sorghums have been found to produce yields comparable to corn when managed properly.

Because many farmers in Ohio's cattle feeding areas are seriously considering increased plantings of bird resistant grain sorghum, animal scientists at the Ohio Agricultural Research and Development Center evaluated the feeding value of the crop for fattening beef cattle.

The Ohio feeding trials compared sorghum grain and sorghum silage with shelled corn and corn silage. Tests were conducted at Center headquarters at Wooster and at the OARDC Northwestern Branch in Wood County. Choice Hereford steers calves were used in the study.

Dr. Earle Klosterman, Associate Chairman of Animal Science, and Dr. William H. Newland, Area Extension Agent, Animal Industry, report that steers fed corn silage or corn grain rations gained faster, required fewer pounds of feed per 100 pounds of gain, and stored more energy per day than those fed either sorghum silage or sorghum grain rations.

SALT CREEK PTO

The Saltcreek PTO met recently with Vice President David Fetherolf conducting the business meeting. Susan Martin gave the secretary report. The finance committee was named as follows: Mr. and Mrs. Don Minor, Mr. and Mrs. Ned Reichelderfer, Mr. and Mrs. Therrell Van Curen, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Strous, Mr. and Mrs. Don Imler, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Boldoser and Mr. and Mrs. Jim Hardman.

The program was in charge of Mrs. West's fifth grade, Miss Chilcote's 4th grade and Mrs. Stewart's 6th grade.

Mrs. West's fifth grade won room count with 20 parents present.

Program Committee in charge for the Feb. meeting will be Miss Mettler's fourth grade and Miss Eveland's 3rd grade.

Announcers for the program were Leatha Iles, Donald Minor, Mitch Martin, Lonnie Maxson, Steve Strous and Jeff Reichelderfer.

At the Northwestern Branch, finely-ground sorghum silage produced significantly better daily gains than more coarsely-ground sorghum silage.

IN digestion trials at Wooster, scientists found that corn silage is significantly more digestible than mature sorghum silage. Immature silage made from bird resistant grain sorghum was more digestible than silage made from mature sorghum, but still ranked below the digestibility of corn silage.

However, the researchers point out that more pounds of beef can be produced per acre of sorghum when the plant is ensiled at the mature stage because increased grain dry matter yields more than offset the lower digestibility of mature grain sorghum.

There is no effective, safe and economical method presently known for controlling the flocks of redwing blackbirds. Until agricultural researchers are able to develop such controls, bird resistant grain sorghum, in spite of its lower feeding value, may offer farmers the best choice of a grain crop if they are in the areas where the birds are a major problem.

Move To Save Scot Regiment Apparently Fails

LONDON (AP) — An emotional campaign to save a proud Scottish regiment from disbandment ran up against a final government veto today. The Argyll and Sutherland Highlanders seem to have fought their last battle.

Even a million-signature petition brought to the House of Commons in a blare of bagpipes failed to win a reprieve for the Argylls, who are due to be axed next year under government plans to streamline the British Army.

Gerry Reynolds, minister of defense for administration, told seven Scottish members of Parliament the government could see no alternative to disbanding the "wee tough" Scotsmen whose predecessors once formed the thin red line at Balaclava.

Reynolds made only one concession: that the name of the regiment would be kept alive as a unit of the Territorial Army Reserve, the equivalent of America's National Guard.

The organizers of the Save the Argylls campaign refused to admit defeat.

County Gets $113,365 In Tax Funds

Ohio sales tax and intangible tax revenue disbursements to Pickaway County totaled $113,365, according to the statement released from the office of Ohio State Auditor, Roger Cloud. The figure is for the last half of calendar 1968.

This payment of the local government fund was an increase in the six months period as compared with $108,088 for the same period in 1967 for Pickaway County.

Ohio's political subdivisions shared in total disbursements amounting to $62,632,288 with ten large urban counties receiving 69.4 per cent of the total.

Broken down, the distributions included $12 million in sales tax money and $50,632,288 in intangible taxes, of which $49,097,882 constituted the tax on deposits in financial institutions and $1,534,406 was derived from the tax on dealers in intangibles.

'Heart Day' Pay Day For Solons

WASHINGTON (AP) — Salaries of senators and representatives went up from $30,000 a year to $42,500 Friday, biggest increase in the history of Congress and a far cry from the one-time scale of $6 a day.

The raise took effect automatically as sort of Valentine's Day present that Congress bestowed upon itself by doing nothing to turn it down.

Besides the biggest raise in history for the lawmakers, it also was the first time they didn't have to take the political risk of actually voting on it.

Under a provision Congress put into a 1967 pay bill, the President recommends congressional salary increases which take effect automatically 30 days later unless the House or Senate vetoes them.

The raises were recommended by President Johnson just before he left office. The Senate rejected a veto attempt, but in the House the Rules Committee kept a similar motion from reaching the floor.

Under the same law, varying increases also went into effect for Cabinet members, federal judges and other high federal office-holders.

Although some members will no doubt complain that the current boost is not enough and others that it is too much, there's little question that the $42,500 will go farther than the meager wages paid the first congressmen.

"In Congress there are about five persons who look like gentlemen. All the rest come in the filthiest dress and are well indeed if they look like farmers," a British diplomat wrote home in 1805.

The scale then was $6 a day, an amount set in 1789 and unchanged until 1818.

Congressmen also got an allowance of $6 for every 20 miles they had to travel to get to Washington and back home — once. Now representatives are paid in full for one trip home each month Congress is in session, plus an extra one, and senators get seven.

The first congressional pay raise voted in 1818, increased the daily rate to $8. It lasted for 38 years.

In 1856 the members were finally put on an annual rate — $3,000. The authors of the legislation tried to cling to the no-work, no-pay concept of the daily wage by adding a provision that there would be a deduction for each day a member was absent for any reason other than illness.

Either the attendance in those days was remarkable, the excuses ingenious or the bookkeeping too difficult. At any rate the deduction provision was rarely, if ever, used and quickly fell into disuse.

Salary legislation began to come a little quicker after that. In 1866 the rate was boosted to $5,000 and seven years later to $7,500. The second step proved to be too quick.

The financial panic of 1873 touched off a slump that caused the public to look with disfavor on the Congressional wallet-fattening and in 1874 the raise was repealed, dropping the salary back to $5,000.

The public wrath must have been intense. It was 33 years before Congress raised its pay again, then, in 1907, it eased up to $7,500 and made it stick.

In the booming Twenties Congress went along with the prevailing mood and boosted salaries to $10,000. And in the Depression it also went along and reduced them. Cuts of 15 per cent, 10 per cent and 5 per cent were voted in 1932, '33 and '34 but in 1935 the $10,000 level was regained.

Since World War II Congress has tried manfully to keep up with the growing economy and raised its pay four times—to $15,000 in 1946, to $22,500 in 1955, to $30,000 in 1965 and now, to $42,500.

Twin Spacecraft To Probe Mars

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — A pair of Mariner spacecraft will be launched toward Mars on Feb. 24 and March 24 to take pictures and gather scientific data that might establish whether life could exist on the red planet.

The twin 900-pound probes are to investigate the physical, chemical and thermal properties of the Martian surface and atmosphere as they fly within 2,000 miles of Mars. The National Aeronautics and Space Administration emphasized the vehicles could not detect life itself.

Launch Director Robert Gray said the first craft, Mariner 6, will require 157 days to traverse a curving 226 million mile course and will pass by Mars July 31. Mariner 7 will have to travel only 193 million miles and will have its encounter with the planet Aug. 5. At the time Mars will be 62 million miles in a straight line from earth.

Fawcett Says He'll Support Rhodes Plan

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio State University President Novice G. Fawcett said Thursday he will support Gov. James A. Rhodes' higher education spending plan.

Fawcett told the board of trustees that the governor's plan would provide a satisfactory continuation budget and guarantee no major fee increase, a position the trustees have "advocated for a long time."

Ohio State had asked $145.6 million originally for a hold-the-line budget. The governor proposed $142.5 million.

The two-year capital improvements budget request by OSU was $157 million, while Rhodes' proposed $27 million.

Fawcett said Rhodes' capital improvements plan would assure money would be provided for the replacement of University Hall. He said Rhodes' proposed allocation would insure a "satisfactory continuation budget" and would provide money for for about a fourth of OSU's proposed new instructional programs.

Fawcett said the governor's proposed freeze on the fees increases was "good" provided adequate state support is given the university.

Rhodes' proposal to convert OSU branch campuses into four-year schools can be worked out, Fawcett said, adding that OSU has never opposed independence for its branches when they enroll at least 5,000 students.

Student Protests Hit Colleges Across U.S.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A midwinter contagion of student protest gripped several campuses across the country today and National Guardsmen stood by to control any further disorders at two major universities.

Gov. Warren P. Knowles brought in 1,000 more guardsmen to relieve the 900 already on duty after four days of disorders at the University of Wisconsin's Madison campus. Also on hand were 600 policemen.

A battalion of 500 riot-trained guardsmen was billeted near the Durham, N.C., campus of Duke University where student demonstrators clashed with police and state troopers Thursday.

At the University of California campus in Berkeley police arrested 36 persons, including 22 students, after protesters overturned tables in a cafeteria and scattered catalogue cards in the main library.

A detail of 50 state troopers broke up a sit-in demonstration at the administration building of the University of Massachusetts in Amherst, Thursday night, arresting 34. They were protesting Dow Chemical Co. recruiting.

At the University of Chicago students who seized the administration building two weeks ago to protest the dismissal of an instructor voted overwhelmingly early today to end their sit-in, unofficial sources said.

In Madison an estimated 10,000 marchers led by Negroes walked from the campus to the state Capitol Thursday night where they chanted freedom songs and sang "America." The march ended back on campus without incident.

At Duke the demonstrators were backing Negro demands for a black studies program under Negroes' control and an end to what they called the 8,000-student Methodist-supported university's "racist policies."

The clash between students and police came after 30 to 40 of the school's 100 Negro students ended a 10-hour occupation of the administration building.

Police fired tear gas to disperse the protesters and 20 students were treated later along with four policemen and a trooper injured by rocks and missiles pitched by the crowd.

In Berkeley Thursday's clash marked a continuation of an effort by a coalition of minority student groups which has been trying to close the campus for more than a month. They demand a minority studies college be established.

Elsewhere there were these protests:

—In New York about 100 City College students, demanding a separate school of Negro and Puerto Rican studies, occupied the administration building, kicked in three doors, drank some liquor in the President's office and then left voluntarily after 4½ hours.

—About 200 male students at the University of Miami in Florida smashed several doors, windows and vending machines in a charge through dormitories early today after an abortive party raid.

—At the University of Florida in Gainesville, 125 students marched on the home of President Stephen O'Connell Thursday night demanding his support for a professor who said publicly that a strong teachers union and militant students should combine to take over the university at the right moment.

—In Chicago, groups of 10 to 20 Negro students at Roosevelt University took control of two classes and said the tactic would continue until the administration grants demands for more classes on Negro culture. The school has about 6,200 students, including 900 Negroes.

—At the University of Illinois in Champaign-Urbana, protesting students made hundreds of telephone calls to tie up lines to the administration building. They ask that Negro enrollment be upped to 10 per cent of the 30,000 student body. There are currently 900 Negroes enrolled.

—At Mississippi Valley State College 90 per cent of the 2,500 students stayed away from classes to back demands for course in Negro history, more political speakers and relaxed curfew hours for girls at the Itta Bena, Miss., campus.

SOME MEMBERS
DEAR MEMBERS: If she sees this, it might not be necessary to tell her anything. But in case she doesn't, one of you "gals" ought to tell her that children should be neither seen nor heard when mama entertains.

DEAR ABBY: Please help me before I lose my mind. I am 34 and Doug is 39. We have three children and a nice home, but I am BORED. Doug never wants to go anywhere. He's happy just staying at home. He never wants to have anyone in either. We have no friends. I have no family here, and neither has he.

I am a good housekeeper and a very good cook. (Even Doug says so.) I have plenty of work to do at home and don't need an outside job.

This boredom is driving me nuts. Doug says all he does is go to work and it's not driving HIM nuts.

Doug wasn't this way when I married him. He's also lost all his desire to make love to me, but it doesn't seem to bother him. Maybe he's ready to shrivel up and die, but I'm not. Help me. Believe it or not, I love the guy.

BORED
DEAR BORED: If Doug wasn't "that way" when you married him, obviously something has happened to him. If you love the guy, get him to a doctor. If it's physical, he can be helped. If it's mental, he can also be helped—but it may take a little longer. Whatever you do, don't continue to wallow in self-pity, seethe with resentment, and vegetate with boredom.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "A LOVING, BUT WEARY SOUL:" I can only repeat one of my favorite quotes from Mark Twain: "It takes a friend and enemy to hurt you to the quick. The enemy to malign you and the 'friend' to get the news to you."

Well, before I know it, everybody else has finished eating and I'm about half-way thru.

Please put this in your column (but don't mention my name) so folks will be a little more patient with those of us with dentures. Thank you.

DEAR GRANDPA: You don't need patience on the part of others you need a better fit! Go back to the dentist who made your dentures and put the bite on him for an adjustment.

DEAR ABBY: We are a group of women who belong to a club. We each take turns hosting the club in our homes. The idea of this club is for us to have an enjoyable evening away from the kiddies. We all have families and on the nights we entertain we either get a sitter in, or have our children in bed fast asleep.

Our problem: One of the gals in our club has a small child, who she purposely keeps up for this meeting. The child is darling, but a chatterbox. She monopolizes the conversation and is the center of attraction the entire time. She doesn't just make an appearance, she is allowed to stay ALL evening.

How can we tell this mother without hurting her feelings that her child should not be included?

SOME MEMBERS

DEAR MEMBERS: If she sees this, it might not be necessary to tell her anything. But in case she doesn't, one of you "gals" ought to tell her that children should be neither seen nor heard when mama entertains.

DEAR ABBY: Please help me before I lose my mind. I am 34 and Doug is 39. We have three children and a nice home, but I am BORED. Doug never wants to go anywhere. He's happy just staying at home. He never wants to have anyone in either. We have no friends. I have no family here, and neither has he.

I am a good housekeeper and a very good cook. (Even Doug says so.) I have plenty of work to do at home and don't need an outside job.

This boredom is driving me nuts. Doug says all he does is go to work and it's not driving HIM nuts.

Doug wasn't this way when I married him. He's also lost all his desire to make love to me, but it doesn't seem to bother him. Maybe he's ready to shrivel up and die, but I'm not. Help me. Believe it or not, I love the guy.

BORED

DEAR BORED: If Doug wasn't "that way" when you married him, obviously something has happened to him. If you love the guy, get him to a doctor. If it's physical, he can be helped. If it's mental, he can also be helped—but it may take a little longer.

Whatever you do, don't continue to wallow in self-pity, seethe with resentment, and vegetate with boredom.

CONFIDENTIAL TO "A LOVING, BUT WEARY SOUL:" I can only repeat one of my favorite quotes from Mark Twain: "It takes a friend and enemy to hurt you to the quick. The enemy to malign you and the 'friend' to get the news to you."

According To Boyle

By JOE WING (For Hal Boyle)

NEW YORK (AP) — When old friends from the valley of Salt Creek come to town, they sometimes give me the third degree on the sin in the suburbs that they read so much about.

That's only natural because I've lived for years in Port Washington, a commuters' town on Long Island's old Gold Coast — just the sort of place where suburban sin is supposed to thrive.

As a matter of fact, the town does have its sinners; until rather recently we had one in our own home.

We called him Tiger, although his fashionably shaggy black hair and bumbling dog nature were not in the least tigerish.

In practical matters, Tiger wasn't much good. He wouldn't fetch the paper or do tricks or bark at the right people. His IQ seemed definitely below par. But when it came to matters of the heart, he could outsmart us all.

He must have memorized the name, address and telephone number of every eligible female on our side of the Long Island Rail Road tracks. As soon as one of them became receptive, Tiger made ready to take off.

No matter how carefully we guarded the door, Tiger would somehow get out. Given a six-foot lead, there was no catching him. Ordinarily obedient within the capacity of his limited intelligence, he knew no master when in the throes of love.

It was no easy matter either to track him down. If he started west, it was likely as not he would swing around later to the east. If he headed south, we wouldn't be surprised when the dog catcher picked him up on the north side of town.

Tiger liked dog catchers. They would open the door of their Black Maria, and he would walk right in. His favorite dog catcher got tired of hauling him to the pound and started returning him to us instead.

Not merely an ardent chaser, Tiger was an effective lover. Of all the dogs that used to gather at Dooley Schneider's house when Minnie was in heat, only Tiger was welcomed. We wish now we had accepted one of the pups that came along later.

As Tiger grew older, his adventures were spaced more widely, and he spent more time drowsing on the front hall rug. But even at the age of 12 the old excitement would sometimes come upon him.

He would tremble and abstain from food until he could get out and away.

His last fling therefore caused us no immediate alarm. Tiger was out on the town for the night, so what? It had happened scores of times before. But when morning came, we found him lying on his side at the end of the front walk. He had barely made it home, after a heart attack.

We buried Tiger in the vacant lot by the side of our house. There was no service, but Dooley Schneider provided the epitaph. She said:

"He was the sexiest dog in town."

"Thank you, young man, but I have already discovered the secret of taking the drudgery out of housework."

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

AT A FLORIDA RESORT, a winter-long boarder made it her business to strike up an acquaintance with a bejeweled, sable-coated newcomer, and came back to her oldest friend with her eyes popping. "What do you think her husband made in the market last year?" she whispered. Her friend snapped, "Half."

I'm sure you learned in grade school that the name of Robert Fulton's famous steamboat was the "Clermont." Wrong, says Charles Rice. Fulton christened his ship "The North River Steam Boat." Clermont was just its port of registry. An early historian got the facts mixed up, and the error has persisted to this very day.

A hard-boiled product of the Bronx, described housing problems in that crowded borough, to Interviewer Tom Wolfe in this brief summation: "If you live on the street floor of a tenement, it's easy to get to—but everybody throws his garbage down at ya. If you live on the top floor, ya can throw yours on them—but ya have to walk up six flights!"

"One political mystery I never could solve," admits Burton Hillis, who speaks for all us poor taxpayers, "is why the minority has all the answers until it becomes the majority."

Speaking Of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

Clubfoot is a birth deformity that seems to occur with some hereditary pattern. The exact reason why a child is born with a foot turned in is not exactly known, although the cause has been attributed to drugs or infections during pregnancy. In most instances there is no real reason to account for this condition.

The severity of the deformity whether the foot is treated by manipulation or by keeping the foot and the leg in a cast. In some instances it becomes necessary to employ surgery to correct some of the more serious conditions.

The key to the best results, either with a cast or by surgery, is early treatment. The results are very successful especially when they're started immediately after the condition is recognized.

There are a number of other congenital bone deformities that include extra fingers or toes. It takes a great deal of astute judgment by an orthopedic or bone specialist to decide which of the digits should be removed and when.

Occasionally, a child is born with a dislocation of the hip which is treated by a cast and occasionally by surgery. The exact nature and extent of the condition can be determined readily by the highly refined X-rays that now can be taken without exposing a young child to any excess radiation.

As my readers know I never, well hardly ever, describe symptoms of the diseases I write about. The reason, of course, is that there are symptoms, any group of which can induce readers to say "that's exactly what I have."

Let us take the symptoms of nausea, diarrhea and abdominal pain. These may accompany a simple stomach upset, overindulgence in food and alcohol, stomach virus infections, ulcers of the stomach, intestinal disturbances, gall bladder disease, poor liver function and emotional upsets. And these are only a tiny fragment of the number of diseases with similar symptoms.

It is for this reason that self-diagnosis is bad judgment. The idea of "that's like what I've got" serves only to delay the treatment of simple diseases until complications arise. Only the doctor can wade through these many possibilities and come up with the proper diagnosis and treatment.

The Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP)—Inflation persists, and it isn't difficult to measure it directly. The rising cost of living casts a spotlight on the issue. But reflected light, as demonstrated by wage increases, illuminates the situation also.

Increases in wages and benefits through collective bargaining averaged 4.5 per cent in 1968. A year later the increases were 5.6 per cent and last year the figure rose to 6.6 per cent.

The question now is, "How much in 1969?" With most contracts still to be negotiated a precise figure is impossible to give, but a good guess is that raises are likely to average at least 5 per cent.

The reason: Inflation simply has not been conquered by the 10 per cent surcharge on income taxes or the reduction in government spending. And the rather recent tightening of monetary policy may not take hold until late 1969.

The pressure for wage increases, therefore, is likely to remain strong throughout the year, for wage demands are the result not only of inflation but of anticipated increases in living costs.

The continuation of this inflation—living costs increased at the rate of 5 per cent a year in the fourth quarter of 1968 compared with 2.8 per cent for all of 1967—points up the critical need for coordination of fiscal and monetary policies.

Fiscal action in 1968, consisting of reduced government spending and the surtax on incomes, has been partly compromised by a monetary policy that permitted a swift increase in the supply of money.

The implication here is not that one or the other was right, but that their efforts were poorly coordinated. The President and Congress tightened fiscal policy. The Federal Reserve permitted money supply to expand.

The net result of this dichotomy was a slowdown in the rate at which purchasing power increased, but nevertheless a plentiful supply of money that made purchases possible regardless of rising costs.

In the opinion of perhaps a majority of economists, such an ineffective anti-inflation policy cannot be permitted to continue or else the wage-price spiral will generate a really destructive storm this year. This is likely to be a year of memorable action, primarily from the monetary people.

It might be recalled that the first attempts at controlling persistent inflation, of curing the patient, was through doses of advice, or guideposts as they were called. But most patients tend to ignore advice.

When last year it was deemed necessary to raise taxes and cut spending the action was referred to as economic surgery, a term meant to convey not only the sense of danger to the patient but that the recovery also might be painful.

Now at least one economist, Leif Olsen of the First National City Bank, is referring to the required action as an economic transplant.

The transplant Olsen refers to is a reconsideration of how to deal with inflation, an application of more effective methods, including more emphasis on monetary policy.

The job of the monetary authorities nevertheless is not clear cut. It is a tricky one, for a crash program of restricting credit might cure the illness by killing the patient. Inflation can always be ended by destroying businesses and jobs.

"NO" TO PAY RAISE — Rep. Andrew Jacobs Jr., D-Ind., starting his third term, says he is returning that $12,500 pay increase Congress voted. The money will go to the Treasury for the remainder of his two-year term.

NEW YORK (AP) — Barbara Streisand got her start in show business in little-known off-Broadway plays like "The Insect Comedy," in which she played an ant and a moth.

Her half-sister, Roslyn Kind, 18, is starting considerably higher up the ladder — an appearance on the Ed Sullivan Show last Sunday and 10 days at San Francisco's hungry i. Everybody, understandably, wants to know if there are any more at home like Barbara.

Miss Kind candidly admits she is taking advantage of her half-sister's fame. But she is also sure she can prove herself an individual on her own talents and not a copy of Barbara.

She's doing it by singing in a pop-rock style as a counterpoint against orchestral arrangements which have a strong classical sound—very different from the Streisand ballad style.

"I used to sound very much like her," Miss Kind says, "but I worked on that. We both have a four-octave range but mine is lower down. And I don't have her nasal quality or her vibrato. The only likeness that sneaks through is phrasing. I guess we both think of how to phrase alike."

"You know, Barbara's success was a good thing for me, psychologically. If you've never been around success, you just hear about the people with real talent who've been around for 20 years and never got anywhere. But I saw my sister make it and that really kindled the flame."

Barbra Streisand's success didn't ignite the flame, though Miss Kind says, "I decided when I was a little girl that I wanted to be in show business."

When I was in the third grade I was Peter Pan in the school play and then came back and stood on the side of the stage and sang 'Someday My Prince Will Come,' for a girl doing a dance."

Miss Kind is like her sister in her determination to succeed—and on her own terms. "I don't date as much as I'd like to. But I want a career badly enough to give up some pleasure. There'll be time for pleasures later."

And about success: "To me success is when you're truly happy with what you have accomplished. Even if I don't get to be a superstar, as long as I make my mark and know I've done it on my own, that will make me very happy."

But comparisons of the sisters are bound to be made. Miss Streisand is said to resemble the exotic Queen Nefertiti. Miss Kind, with her shiny clean face, light brown hair, moderate-size nose and conservative miniskirt, looks like a candidate for Miss Teen-age America.

"I could never be as kooky as Barbara," Miss Kind says. "She wore those purple lipsticks. I never could. I dress a little mod, but with the tailored look."

"For performing, I wear gowns, with a youthful feeling, not elegant and not hippie."

"In personality I think I'm a little more open than my sister might be. I'm not as internal. She more likes to keep things to herself. I'm more outgoing than that, but as mysterious."

"Not it's funny. I never was outgoing a few years ago. I was heavy and I used to hide in my shell until I lost all my weight. I lost 60 pounds when I was 14."

Legislature Report

By MYRL H. SHOEMAKER

State Representative

The legislature continues to move at a slow pace, and the Governor's programs do not seem to be developing any faster despite the amount of publicity they are receiving. Why there is very little activity in the legislature so far is difficult to understand. There certainly isn't a lack of problems.

The reason the Governor gives for not submitting his program is that there are still some very serious questions on the educational proposals and they are being worked out now by the Administration. He adds, "the tax decisions have been made." (The gross receipts tax on merchants.)

Most observers here in Columbus agree that the General Assembly has never been so slow in starting its work.

However, activity around the legislature does not seem to me to be slow. Last week, Ohio Penitentiary guards went on strike for one day for better wages. They attended the legislative session and talked to several leaders. Before the week was over, highway workers were threatening a walkout for time and one-half for overtime work. Both groups were given sufficient satisfaction and serious trouble was averted.

This week the legislature arrived in Columbus to see some 500 to 600 welfare demonstrators in the Statehouse rotunda asking for increased benefits. They also met with the Governor and legislative leaders but were generally not satisfied with the results of the meeting.

The welfare problems are quite serious. On the one hand, most people believe a state as rich as Ohio can take care of its needy, and want it to. On the other hand, there is simply a limit on how much the state can afford. The Governor, in his State of the State Message, pointed out that for the next two years the state will expend $864 million for welfare, or an increase over the past two years of $244 million. This increase does not include increased benefits to recipients.

Some people believe benefits should be increased. At least to the point of providing minimum living standards. However, if the numbers continue to increase as they have, there is a question whether the working people of the state will continue to pay the cost, even at present benefit levels.

To have welfare rolls increase so greatly in times of high employment can only mean that some basic changes are needed. Changes which will allow everyone to participate in the society to the full extent of their ability, and will not need, or want welfare benefits.

The problems are very difficult — meeting the needs of the unfortunate — protecting the taxpayers dollar, and finding new ways to meet the problems of the welfare recipients. If you have any ideas, suggestions, or ways of solving this most important problem, please write me. I am most interested in it and will be concerned with taking care of those in need without wasting the taxpayers dollar.

February Fog Festival Set If Weather Will Stay Bad

OCEAN SHORES, Wash. (AP) — It's about time for the second annual February Fog Festival and Paul Cornwell and his crew are hoping the sun doesn't come out and spoil everything.

"The weather here is looking very bad indeed," Cornwell reports with downright satisfaction. "We are confident the weather for the Fog Festival will be just beautiful"—meaning, lousy to most folks.

Cornwell, known around this southwest Washington Pacific resort as "Leakyboot," dreamed up the festival idea with a few others to live up to a month normally about as exciting as wet sand.

The memory of last year's first annual FFF still rankles because, as Cornwell recalls, "Ocean Shores had a fearsome week of fine, clear weather."

What is a February Fog Festival? Well, it's anything from shooting fish in a rain barrel, a possible competitive event this year, to the planned "First Annual Kick-the-Can Superbowl."

The main event for the FFF on Feb. 22-23, of course, will be the annual North American Mid Winter wading championships on Sunday.

That's a "soggy socks spectacular," Cornwell explains, "which sends intrepid competitors dashing 100 yards into the Pacific Ocean surf, around a pole and back, through waves up to seven feet high."

Last year 19 contestants assaulted the briny in this event, Cornwell says, and if they tended to turn a bit blue they knew they would be warmed by streams of hot water from an "Official contest reheater" at the finish.

"It's absolutely breath-taking," says one old-timer. "After one of them waders takes three steps in that water, they ain't nobody in the world can tell whether he's walkin' on goose feathers or crunched up carpet tacks."

Want Federal Passenger Train Service Subsidy

WASHINGTON (AP) — The railroad industry Friday proposed a joint government-industry program to sustain passenger train service and avert what it termed a "public transportation crisis."

The Association of American Railroads said the proposal had been approved unanimously by its board of directors as the only logical solution to the passenger train problem. Historically, passenger train service has been allowed, sometimes encouraged, to disappear.

Thomas M. Goodfellow, president of the association, said railroads are "willing and anxious to do what they can" to keep passenger trains in operation. "But we're forced to operate money-losing trains," he said. "We feel the government should assume the obligation to share in the cost."

CHS Grad Plays Key Role In 'Splendor'

MALINDA ANDERSON

A surprising transformation takes place when Malinda Anderson steps into the character of Ginny Stamper in the Roundtown Players production of "Splendor in the Grass" to be presented Feb. 21 and 22 at Circleville Junior High School.

Malinda believes the role of Ginny can be done if you have an understanding for people, and she understands Ginny even though she doesn't like her at times. Malinda's performance will be one of the highlights of the play.

Malinda Anderson finds her own personal fulfillment in helping others. She is active in the Brethren Volunteer Service, and participated in a research project designed to determine the effects as different foods on the cholesterol level in the human body. As a human "guinea pig," Malinda's cholesterol count was raised to the dangerous level of 300 before being returned to normal. Her volunteer service through her church involved a period of training in New Windsor, Md., similar to that received by the Peace Corps. Some of her work has been with terminal children patients, which she describes as "heart rending." She also worked with the underprivileged in Chicago and with Appalachia groups at the Lend-a-Hand Center near Walkers, Kentucky.

Tickets for "Splendor in the Grass" are available at Bingman's Drugs, Lindsey's Bakery, Porter's Laundry and Risch's Drugs as well as from members of the Roundtown Players.

School Integration Push Speeded

WASHINGTON (AP) — The administration appears to be taking no chances of any lingering doubts—spawned by Nixon campaign statements and earlier federal action—that it will be soft on school desegregation.

The Department of Health, Education and Welfare capped a week of rapid-fire action Thursday by cutting off federal funds to three Southern school districts until they come up with long-delayed plans to integrate their schools.

The Justice Department filed suit for the same purpose Monday against three Louisiana districts and followed it up the next day with a suit against the Houston, Tex., system, sixth largest in the nation and biggest in the South.

The HEW and Justice Department actions represented the two main weapons the administration has to settle the scores of school desegregation cases inherited from the Democrats.

Court action is usually, but not always, the result of a suit or complaint filed by a parent.

The flurry of activity this week was the first involving school desegregation since HEW took its initial steps into the field Jan. 29 when it left the distinct impression that its policy would be to go slow.

On that day, HEW Secretary Robert H. Finch, cut off federal funds to five Southern districts. But he said then it was a last-resort action, that funds would be held in escrow hopefully to be returned in 60 days and that he was sending special teams to help the districts work out new plans.

He told newsmen his policy would be one of "negotiation, fairness, and flexibility." Such a policy, Finch said, would be "consistent with the interpretation the President repeatedly expressed in the campaign."

When asked by a newsmen what specific remarks of Nixon's he referred to, aides spent 15 minutes looking over the files and then cited comments by the candidate at a Sept. 19 news conference. They were:

"When the Office of Education goes beyond the mandate of Congress and attempts to use federal funds not just for the purpose of avoiding segregation but for the purpose of integration in positive ways—busing and the like—with that I disagree. And I do not believe federal funds should be used for that purpose."

In a television interview Feb. 2, Finch repeated his view, and referred to withholding of funds as the "ultimate" weapon.

In cutting off funds Thursday to Greenwood County in South Carolina, Emmett School District in Arkansas and Chester County, Tenn., Finch sent no special teams although he said he would provide "whatever HEW technical assistance may be required." He also said the "funds involved will not be held in escrow for the districts."

Mail Besieges Congress Complaining About High Tax

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress is being flooded with mail on how to straighten the maze of the federal tax structure with "soak the other fellow" leading the list of suggestions.

Who the other fellow is differs, of course, depending on the status of the letter writer, but in most cases the advice is to soak millionaires, tax-exempt foundations, churches or married couples.

The volume of mail has taxed the answering-capacity of Congress since the House Ways and Means Committee announced that it would start tax hearings next Tuesday.

The suggestions are mainly from low and middle income people who won't be heard during the committee hearings unless they request a hearing. Very little mail is from business and other interests whose spokesmen already have been scheduled to testify.

Typical of the complaints and suggestions are these excerpts from letters sent to members of Congress and released to a newsmen with the stipulation that no names nor home towns would be used:

From Illinois—"We are struggling along to make a living and are forced to pay a surtax because of a deficit—yet our representatives have the gall to vote themselves an increase" in pay.

From Tennessee—"The income tax mess is now a scandal. The way it works out, the more you earn the less taxes you pay. How about some loopholes for the little fellow?"

From Alabama—"We taxpayers may revolt before long. It would be good for you to listen to the cries and screams from home from the people who pay for all those no good programs that squander our tax money."

From Kentucky—"Close the loopholes that enable millionaires to escape paying any taxes."

From California—"The middle class cannot afford to carry the full burden of the cost of government. See that we get equitable reform."

From Ohio—"The income from church property and business operated for a profit should be taxed. Members of religious groups who take a vow of poverty and then teach in public schools or hold other positions outside the church should be taxed the same as others."

From Texas—"You experts in Washington should find some way to relieve retired persons and salaried persons who now carry most of the tax load."

From Pennsylvania—"Single persons who are homeowners and have all the expenses of maintaining a home but are allowed no benefits certainly should be given consideration. The allowances for dependents for married people with families should be sufficient compensation for them."

From New Mexico—"Foundations should be tapped for their fair share of the tax burden. This should make it possible for a tax cut across the board."

From California—"The oil depletion allowance should be changed. It only benefits oil firms."

From Oregon—"It is past time that something be done to close the loopholes only the moneyed know anyway and make everyone pay, thus relieving the burden on John Q. Average Working Citizen."

County Police Ask Pay Hike

CINCINNATI (AP) — Hamilton County commissioners are considering requests brought by county police for upping their pay by nearly 30 or 40 per cent and bolstering the force's manpower.

Commission Chairman John Held said the board is "sympathetic" to needs of the department, composed of 100 men.

The proposed wage schedule would increase patrolmen pay from $7,760 to $10,000; detectives from $8,175 to $11,000; sergeants from $8,485 to $12,000; and lieutenants from $8,900 to $13,000.

The men "must get a raise" but the wage requests are "unrealistic," Sheriff Dan Tehan said.

Lt. Paul Fricker told the commissioners in a request for more men that "It is almost impossible to furnish 24-hour coverage with present personnel."

Affectionate Dog Victor In Court Case

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Sultan, a 210-pound Great Dane, went to court Thursday and won his case by showing affection for a 1½-pound pup.

Sultan is owned by Melvin J. Bober, a Brook Park tavern owner who was accused by a neighbor of letting the Great Dane run loose. The neighbor also alleged that Sultan went around biting and beating up his own, smaller dog.

Bober appeared in Berea Municipal Court and claimed that Sultan was affectionate and gentle. Judge Joseph A. Stangel suggested that Bober offer Sultan into evidence.

Thursday Bober went back to court with Sultan and a 1½-pound Maltese pup called Useless.

The Great Dane came through for his owner. Sultan fussed over the pup and showed such affection for the little fellow that Judge Stangel dismissed for lack of evidence the charge that Bober permitted Sultan to mistreat the neighbor's dog.

During the proceedings, Bober acknowledged that sometimes Sultan got out of the tavern and wandered around. He was fined $10 and costs for letting the dog run at large.

Ohio Mayors Seek Meet With Rhodes

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Gov. James A. Rhodes and members of the legislature are being asked to meet with a group of Ohio mayors in Columbus Tuesday night to discuss financial problems arising from the police and firemen's pension fund.

Announcing the meeting Thursday, Akron Mayor John Ballard said none of the cities can afford to pay the accrued liability now owed the state for the pension fund. He said aid would be requested.

February Fog Festival Set If Weather Will Stay Bad

OCEAN SHORES, Wash. (AP) — It's about time for the second annual February Fog Festival and Paul Cornwell and his crew are hoping the sun doesn't come out and spoil everything.

"The weather here is looking very bad indeed," Cornwell reports with downright satisfaction. "We are confident the weather for the Fog Festival will be just beautiful"—meaning lousy to most folks.

Cornwell, known around this southwest Washington Pacific resort as "Leakyboot," dreamed up the festival idea with a few others to liven up a month normally about as exciting as wet sand.

The memory of last year's first annual FFF still rankles because, as Cornwell recalls, "Ocean Shores had a fearsome week of fine, clear weather."

What is a February Fog Festival? Well, it's anything from shooting fish in a rain barrel, a possible competitive event this year, to the planned "First Annual Kick-the-Can Superbowl."

The main event for the FFF on Feb. 22-23, of course, will be the annual North American Mid-Winter wading championships on Sunday.

That's a "soggy socks spectacular," Cornwell explains, "which sends intrepid competitors dashing 100 yards into the Pacific Ocean surf, around a pole and back, through waves up to seven feet high."

Last year 19 contestants assaulted the briny in this event, Cornwell says, and if they tended to turn a bit blue they knew they would be warmed by streams of hot water from an "Official contest reheater" at the finish.

"It's absolutely breathtaking," says one old-timer. "After one of them waders takes three steps in that water, they ain't nobody in the world can tell whether he's walkin' on goose feathers or crunched up carpet tacks."

Want Federal Passenger Train Service Subsidy

WASHINGTON (AP) — The railroad industry Friday proposed a joint government-industry program to sustain passenger train service and avert what it termed a "public transportation crisis."

The Association of American Railroads said the proposal had been approved unanimously by its board of directors as the only logical solution to the passenger train problem. Historically, passenger train service has been allowed, sometimes encouraged, to disappear.

Thomas M. Goodfellow, president of the association, said railroads are "willing and anxious to do what they can" to keep passenger trains in operation.

"But we're forced to operate money-losing trains," he said. "We feel the government should assume the obligation to share in the cost."

CHS Grad Plays Key Role In 'Splendor'

MALINDA ANDERSON

A surprising transformation takes place when Malinda Anderson steps into the character of Ginny Stamper in the Roundtown Players production of "Splendor in the Grass" to be presented Feb. 21 and 22 at Circleville Junior High School.

Malinda believes the role of Ginny can be done if you have an understanding for people, and she understands Ginny even though she doesn't like her at times. Malinda's performance will be one of the highlights of the play.

Malinda Anderson finds her own personal fulfillment in helping others. She is active in the Brethren Volunteer Service, and participated in a research project designed to determine the effects as different foods on the cholesterol level in the human body. As a human "guinea pig," Malinda's cholesterol count was raised to the dangerous level of 300 before being returned to normal. Her volunteer service through her church involved a period of training in New Windsor, Md., similar to that received by the Peace Corps. Some of her work has been with terminal children patients, which she describes as "heart rendering." She also worked with the underprivileged in Chicago and with Appalachia groups at the Lend-a-Hand Center near Walkers, Kentucky.

Tickets for "Splendor in the Grass" are available at Bingman's Drugs, Lindsey's Bakery, Porter's Laundry and Risch's Drugs as well as from members of the Roundtown Players.

USE THE CLASSIFIEDS

School Integration Push Speeded

WASHINGTON (AP) — The administration appears to be taking no chances of any lingering doubts—spawned by Nixon campaign statements and earlier federal action—that it will be soft on school desegregation.

The Department of Health, Education and Welfare capped a week of rapid-fire action Thursday by cutting off federal funds to three Southern school districts until they come up with long-delayed plans to integrate their schools.

The Justice Department filed suit for the same purpose Monday against three Louisiana districts and followed it up the next day with a suit against the Houston, Tex., system, sixth largest in the nation and biggest in the South.

The HEW and Justice Department actions represented the two main weapons the administration has to settle the scores of school desegregation cases inherited from the Democrats.

Court action is usually, but not always, the result of a suit or complaint filed by a parent.

The flurry of activity this week was the first involving school desegregation since HEW took its initial steps into the field Jan. 29 when it left the distinct impression that its policy would be to go slow.

On that day, HEW Secretary Robert H. Finch, cut off federal funds to five Southern districts. But he said then it was a last-resort action, that funds would be

In a television interview Feb. 2, Finch repeated his view, and referred to withholding of funds as the "ultimate" weapon.

In cutting off funds Thursday to Greenwood County in South Carolina, Emmett School District in Arkansas and Chester County, Tenn., Finch sent no special teams although he said he would provide "whatever HEW technical assistance may be required." He also said the "funds involved will not be held in escrow for the districts."

Leather for Spring and Summer is gaining in popularity but its cleaning upkeep has been a major deterrent since most had to be professionally handled or at best sponged off with great care.

Now, new technological studies in the care of leather have resulted in a specially treated pigskin (suede) that can be hand-washed along the same methods used to handle a cashmere or other wool items — cool or tepid water plus one of the preparations used for washing wool.

Merely dunk the pigskin garment in the solution, rinse, pat out the excess moisture, shake. DO NOT HANG. The leather will stretch if you do. Lay the garment flat on a drying rack or floor and reverse now and then but be sure to pat it back into the same original shape and size.

Important: Do not wash a lined leather garment.

Leather is fun, it is good looking, sophisticated and dramatic as it is being used in fashion now. New creations such as the washable pigskins shown here for casual wear are more fluid, free-moving and comfortable. It is being shaped into enchanting daytime town dresses as well as sports clothes, suits and coats.

Seek Gunmen For Holdup, Woundings

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Police are seeking four gunmen who wounded three persons — one critically — during a robbery at a Cleveland bar.

Witnesses told police two men came into the Center Bar on Miles Avenue Friday, ordered drinks and then pulled guns and ordered six customers and four employees to lie on the floor.

They were joined by two other gunmen while one rifled the cash register of several hundred dollars, witnesses added.

Police said they were told that the gunmen started shooting, wounding the bartender and two customers, and then ran out.

A customer, James F. Bican, 31, Parma Heights, was listed in critical condition Friday night with a stomach wound.

Reported in fair condition were the bartender, Manuel Gonzalez, 47, Garfield Heights, and M. A. Hill, 33, Akron.

Lake Erie Fishing Poor For 1970?

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Division of Wildlife had some bad news Friday for Lake Erie fishermen looking ahead to the 1970 season.

Division Chief Dan C. Armbruster said last autumn's fall trawl and gill net surveys indicate a weak hatch of perch and walleyes occurred during the spring of 1968.

He said this means there will be a drastic reduction in sport and commercial catches in 1970.

By TAD ROWADY
Leather for Spring and Summer is gaining in popularity but its cleaning upkeep has been a major deterrent since most had to be professionally handled or at best sponged off with great care.

Now, new technological studies in the care of leather have resulted in a specially treated pigskin (suede) that can be hand-washed along the same methods used to handle a cashmere or other wool items — cool or tepid water plus one of the preparations used for washing wool.

Merely dunk the pigskin garment in the solution, rinse, pat out the excess moisture, shake. DO NOT HANG. The leather will stretch if you do. Lay the garment flat on a drying rack or floor and reverse now and then but be sure to pat it back into the same original shape and size.

Important: Do not wash a lined leather garment.

Leather is fun, it is good

Seek Gunmen For Holdup, Woundings

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Police are seeking four gunmen who wounded three persons—one critically — during a robbery at a Cleveland bar.

Witnesses told police two men came into the Center Bar on Miles Avenue Friday, ordered drinks and then pulled guns and ordered six customers and four employees to lie on the floor.

They were joined by two other gunmen while one rifled the cash register of several hundred dollars, witnesses added.

Police said they were told that the gunmen started shooting, wounding the bartender and two customers, and then ran out.

A customer, James F. Bican, 31, Parma Heights, was listed in critical condition Friday night with a stomach wound.

Reported in fair condition were the bartender, Manuel Gonzalez, 47, Garfield Heights, and M. A. Hill, 33, Akron.

Lake Erie Fishing Poor For 1970?

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Division of Wildlife had some bad news Friday for Lake Erie fishermen looking ahead to the 1970 season.

Division Chief Dan. C. Armbruster said last autumn's fall trawl and gill net surveys indicate a weak hatch of perch and walleyes occurred during the spring of 1968.

He said this means there will be a drastic reduction in sport and commercial catches in 1970.

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — "They're bigger and taller and have more instruction in the fundamentals," said Billy Maxwell of golf's youth brigade which has been blasting par at the Arizona Country Club in the $100,000 Phoenix Open.

Yet, going into the third round today, it was the 39-year-old Texan, Maxwell, and Frank Beard, 29, of Louisville, leading the remaining 78 pros who survived Friday's cut.

Maxwell shot a 66 and Beard a 65 on the second round to reach the mid-way point at 131. At 132 were 23-year-old John Jacobs, a 215-pounder with a 67 on his second round, and veterans Don January at 65 and Rod Funsath at 66.

Jacobs—youngeer brother of Tommy, a star on the pro tour several years—and Johnny Stevens, former Wichita University star, met the Maxwell's description.

Stevens, a towering 6-foot-4, 200 pounder established a new competitive record for the par 35-36 71 Arizona Country Club course when he blizzed to a nine-under par 62 for a 133 total Friday.

The course is relatively short at 6,389 yards, but Beard commented, "It is easy only in that the par 5 holes can all be reached in two shots."

Stevens shot a remarkable 29 on the front nine with four birdies and an eagle and then came back in 33. His score eclipsed the 63 record set by Ken Still four years ago.

It took a two-under-par 140 or better to remain in the tournament which dangles a $20,000 prize for the winner.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS The Minnesota Pipers, in the drivers seat most of the season, suddenly has been thrust into a game of musical chairs and Miami is the latest team to be playing the top tune.

The Floridians became the third team in three nights to hold first place in the Eastern Division of the American Basketball Association by trouncing visiting Houston 129-110 Friday night for their seventh victory in eight games.

Miami moved up from second place when Indiana, which had finally moved into first place Thursday after a season-long chase after Minnesota, lost at Denver 112-102. Indiana thus dropped to third, behind Minnesota, which squashed Dallas 123-114 at St. Paul-Minneapolis.

In the only other game, the New York Nets almost blew a 27-point lead before defeating visiting Los Angeles 107-103.

A crowd of 11,666 at the Charlotte Coliseum saw Roche and three other sophomores—Tom Owens of New York, Bill Walsh of Marquette, N.Y., and John Ribbeck of Augusta, Ga.—along with junior Bobby Cremins of New York, play the entire game without any substitutions.

average. They also managed 20 of 27 shots from the charity stripe for a 74 per cent proficiency. They turned the ball over to the hosts 15 times and committed 14 fouls.

Miami Trace led the SCOL race all of the season and never lost to a league team. They lost only four games during the season. Chuck Weaver was high man for the year with 393 points.

Circleville had a five and 13 season this year, a better season than last year. Randy Halley was high year man for the Tigers with 280 points. Dave Horst was next with 252 total points.

Miami Trace's Wadde got the tip from the diminutive Tigers as the game got started and the first bucket was scored by Larry Ankrum. The host notched two more buckets before the Tigers were able to get on the scoreboard. Their first point came on a foul shot with 6:53 left in the quarter.

THE Panthers then widened their lead with Circleville never getting any closer than six markers and that was the last minute on a three point play. The quarter ended with the hosts leading by nine points, 23-14.

Miami Trace again got the tip as the second stanza got started but Circleville was the first to score on a field goal by Ty Ankrum. Weaver was the first to score for the hosts in the period ten seconds later. With three minutes left to play in the half the Panthers led by 12 points but the Tigers were closing in and managed to cut their lead to six markers before the end of the period 42-36.

In the third quarter the Panthers took a 15 point lead, the biggest of the period, with 57 seconds left. But the Tigers hit a three pointer with two seconds showing on the clock to make the score 60-49.

In the fourth period the Tigers were unable to come back on the hosts as they lengthened their lead to 25 points by the end of the game, 89-64.

"They were as fired up for this game as I have ever seen a team and they really wanted to be number one," commented CHS mentor Gerald Sowder.

This was the last regular game of the season for the Tigers but they play Gahanna Lincoln in the district tournament at the Columbus Fairgrounds on Feb. 25. Gahanna was a 15 and two record for the season and is the Ohio Capital League champs. The Golden Lions are led by Bill Price and Mike Browning who are both averaging better than 20 points per game.

When the freshman football teams of Michigan State and Notre Dame played a 14-14 tie at East Lansing, Mich., last season a quarterback on each team caught his own forward pass. In each case an opposing lineman had batted the ball into the air.

"They are now the team to beat and we are the challenging team," said Dean Smith, North Carolina coach, after the Wonder Babies had won their sixth straight and their 12th in 13 games for an over-all 16-3 mark. North Carolina now is 18-2.

Smith was referring to the return game between the Tar Heels and the Gamecocks at Columbia, S.C. on Feb. 26 and to the ACC championship tourney, starting March 6, which will de-

The favorites won the opening round of the Teays Valley Sectional basketball tournament Friday.

Wehrle edged West Jefferson, 60-49, in a game that is closer than the final score indicates and Academy dumped Madison South from the tournament trail, 80-54.

West Jefferson led Wehrle 13-7 at the end of the first quarter, but the score was tied, 21-21 at halftime.

Wehrle took a 38-35 lead at the end of three periods.

WITH 3:17 to play in the game, West Jefferson was on top, 45-44, but the Roughriders had a two minute scoring drought while the Wehrle quintet was scoring six points.

With 41 seconds of playing time remaining in the game, the score was 51-40, with Wehrle on top. The winners finished with a flurry of nine points, five of them at the foul line, for the final 11 point victory.

The winners got the game at the foul line. They connected on 22 of 31 attempts from the charity stripe while West Jefferson made seven of 18.

Tony Preidlas led the winners with 17 points. John Skubza notched 16, Dave Maurer 14 and Mike Sachs 14.

For the losers, Dan Thatcher had 17 points. He was the only one to score in double figures for West Jeff.

Wehrle will now play Canal Winchester 7 p.m. Feb. 22.

THE Academy-Madison South game was close for the first half. The score was deadlocked 13-13 at the end of the first eight minutes of play and 29-29 after the second quarter.

In the third quarter, Madison South couldn't buy a basket, making only one of 17 shots and the Academy Vikings boomed out to a 56-33 lead.

It was not until late in the final period when Academy Coach Phil Hess began clearing his bench that Madison South began to find the range again, but it was too late in the game.

Academy made 28 of 63 shots from the field, Madison South made 22 of 77 shots from the field. At one point during the third and fourth periods, the Lions hit only three of 30 shots from the field.

The Lions made only one field goal in the third quarter.

Academy will face Logan Elm Feb. 22 in the Teays Valley sectional. Logan Elm was the fourth seeded team in the section.

There is no action tonight at Teays Valley. Next Friday The Plains of Mt. Sterling play Amanda - Clearcreek and Westfall the top seeded team tangles with Ohio Deaf.

Don Johnson 1st In PBA Tourney

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Don Johnson of Kokomo, Ind., led four other finalists into Saturday's nationally televised play in the Professional Bowlers Association $60,000 Ebonite Open.

Patrick Is Winner Of 880-Yard Run
NEW YORK (AP) — Dave Patrick says he's ready to go back to his favorite distance again, while Marty Liquori just keeps rolling along...at any distance.

Patrick, former Villanova ace, made his New York indoor debut at a winning one Friday night at the Knights of Columbus track meet in Madison Square Garden, while Wildcat sophomore Liquori made a successful switch to a shorter event.

Patrick, sidelined most of the season with a back injury, won the 880-yard run in 1:52.5 after finishing third in the mile at Baltimore last week in 4:09.2.

Willie Davenport Sprints In 5.8
TORONTO (AP) — Willie Davenport's record-breaking sprint across 50 yards of varnished hardwood and hurdles Friday night had 15,137 fans roaring and the U.S. star wondering what would have happened if he had been ready.

Davenport, gold medal winner in the 110-meter hurdles at the 1968 Olympics, almost missed the meet here because of poor plane connections, but won the 50-yard hurdles in the unofficial world record time of 5.8 seconds at the Telegram-Maple Leaf indoor Games.

Jack Boyer planned Johnson of West and Hill of Central. Boyer has an 18-2 record. Fifteen of his wins have been by pins.

Mike Fuller lost 4-3 in the 106 pound weight to the eventual champion in the class. Jack Robinson also lost to an eventual champion, as did Dezi Gentzel.

Doug Moore won his first match and then lost to Baxton termining the ACC team in the NCAA post-season tournament. "These kids have just refused to quit," declared Frank McGuire, South Carolina coach. "I told you before the season started that I thought we would have a good season if the kids clicked."

Another soph, Doug Tilley of North Carolina State led the Wolfpack to an 84-74 victory over Clemson. He scored 25 points and grabbed 17 rebounds.

The game followed the NC-SC game at Charlotte as part of an ACC doubleheader.

Jeff Petrie's 30 points led Princeton to a 67-56 victory over Yale at New Haven as the Tigers made it six in a row and tightened their hold on first place in the Ivy League. Penn beat Brown 61-48 at Providence in another Ivy contest.

Jack Penhall's two free throws with 21 seconds to go gave Rutgers a 49-47 triumph over Army at New Brunswick, N.J.

In other home court victories St. Louis downed Memphis State 74-65, California whipped Oregon 91-70, Stanford took Oregon State 70-61, Weber State humbled Gonzaga 94-67, Idaho State topped Idaho 88-82 in overtime and George Washington drubbed Citadel 84-53.

North Carolina was the only team in the Associated Press Top 20 to see action.

Pioneers Carve Victory Notch On Shermans' Court

Second ranked Zane Trace edged Unioto in a Ross County Conference match Friday night 57-52 in a low scoring defensive bout.

Zane Trace jumped ahead to a seven point lead in the first stanza and saw that lead closed to five at the end of the half. Both teams had 16 points in the third quarter and Unioto outscored Trace in the last stanza 12-11.

With 25 seconds left in the tilt, Zane Trace had a three point lead, 53-50. Maxwell then connected on both ends of a one and one situation to boost their lead to five. The Shermans came back with a field goal to cut the lead to three points again. Then Ratcliff put the finishing bucket in the hoop for Trace to give them a five point margin, 57-52.

Dan Ratcliff led the hosts in their win with ten field goals and three points from the free throw line in his 23 point romp. He was also helped out in the win by Jeff Resinger who netted 19 points for the night.

THE team hit 22 shots from the field and seven from the charity stripe in a relatively foul-less tilt. The hosts were seven of 11 from the free throw line.

Unioto was led by Dave Juenger and Bob Malott who had 16 points each. Both hit seven field goals and two free throws. Ron Loveley was the only other Sherman to hit double figures with 11. Unioto netted 22 shots from the field and eight of 13 from the charity line.

The Zane Trace junior varsity routed the Unioto reserves in the preliminary tilt, 66-31.

Tonight Zane Trace plays Vinton County in a non league tilt. Next week Trace draws for teams for the district tournaments.

Pipers Troupe Houston, 129-110, In ABA Action

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Minnesota Pipers, in the drivers seat most of the season, suddenly has been thrust into a game of musical chairs and Miami is the latest team to be playing the top tune.

The Floridians became the third team in three nights to hold first place in the Eastern Division of the American Basketball Association by trouncing visiting Houston 129-110 Friday night for their seventh victory in eight games.

Miami moved up from second place when Indiana, which had finally moved into first place Thursday after a season-long chase after Minnesota, lost at Denver 112-102. Indiana thus dropped to third, behind Minnesota, which squashed Dallas 123-114 at St. Paul-Minneapolis.

In the only other game, the New York Nets almost blew a 27-point lead before defeating visiting Los Angeles 107-103.

29 Records In IAAF Set By Thinclads

LONDON (AP) — Bob Beamon's incredible Olympic long jump of 29 feet, 2 1/4 inches and Jim Ryun's three-year-old half mile clocking of one minute, 44.9 seconds are among 29 world track and field records newly recognized by the International Amateur Athletic Federation.

American men and women accounted for 12 of the world marks okayed by the IAAF Friday, with Beamon, sprinters Jim Hines and Wyomia Tyus and quarter-miler Lee Evans leading the assault.

Beamon, of El Paso, Tex., bettered the old long jump mark, shared by America's Ralph Boston and Russia's Igor Ter-Ovanesyan, by one foot, 9 1/4 inches at the Mexico City Olympics.

Hines, of Oakland, Calif., Miss Tyus, of Griffin, Ga., and Evans, of San Jose, Calif., each set one record and shared in a relay mark at the Games.

Hines ran the 100 meters in 9.9 and helped the U.S. 400-meter relay team set a record of 38.2. Miss Tyus did 11 seconds flat in the women's 100 meters and anchored the U.S. girls to a 42.8 clocking in the 400 relay.

Evans was clocked in 43.8 for the 400 meters and ran the final leg on the victorious American 1,600-meter relay quartet that finished in 2:56.1.

Other records set by Americans between Jan. 1 and Dec. 31, 1968, and approved Friday were the 200-meter time of 19.8, by Tommie Smith of Lemoore, Calif., the 39.6 clocking in the 440 relay, by Texas Southern, and the 218.3 discus heave, by Jay Silvester of Modesto, Calif.

White Sox Players Stay Off Field

SARASOTA, Fla. (AP) — Baseball's player strike became a reality Friday when the Chicago White Sox opened camp a week earlier than most clubs.

The White Sox, because of an exhibition series scheduled in Mexico City prior to the opening of spring training games, called their pitchers and catchers in a week early to get in shape.

In all, 21 players showed up for the two-hour workout, but only 12 of them were rostered players. Except for catcher Russ Nixon and pitcher Dan Osinski, the rostered players were all rookies.

Catchers Duane Josephson and Don Pavletich and such front line hurlers like Gary Peters, Joe Horlen, Tommy John, Cisco Carlos, Bob Priddy and Wilbur Wood were missing because the players and owners have failed to agree on a new pension fund.

With the exception of Nixon and Osinski, none of the players who reported have had a year's service and thus are not eligible for the striking Players' Association.

Nixon, who was the player representative when he was with the Minnesota Twins, is trying to make the grade with the club and said, "You have to keep busy when you have four kids."

However, Nixon added, "I talked to a number of veteran players and none of them felt I should jeopardize my career because, after all, every year is vital after you serve 12."

Beamon's incredible Olympic long jump of 29 feet, 2 1/4 inches and Jim Ryun's three-year-old half mile clocking of one minute, 44.9 seconds are among 29 world track and field records newly recognized by the International Amateur Athletic Federation.

American men and women accounted for 12 of the world marks okayed by the IAAF Friday, with Beamon, sprinters Jim Hines and Wyomia Tyus and quarter-miler Lee Evans leading the assault.

Beamon, of El Paso, Tex., bettered the old long jump mark, shared by America's Ralph Boston and Russia's Igor Ter-Ovanesyan, by one foot, 9 1/4 inches at the Mexico City Olympics.

Hines, of Oakland, Calif., Miss Tyus, of Griffin, Ga., and Evans, of San Jose, Calif., each set one record and shared in a relay mark at the Games.

Hines ran the 100 meters in 9.9 and helped the U.S. 400-meter relay team set a record of 38.2. Miss Tyus did 11 seconds flat in the women's 100 meters and anchored the U.S. girls to a 42.8 clocking in the 400 relay.

Evans was clocked in 43.8 for the 400 meters and ran the final leg on the victorious American 1,600-meter relay quartet that finished in 2:56.1.

Other records set by Americans between Jan. 1 and Dec. 31, 1968, and approved Friday were the 200-meter time of 19.2, by Tommie Smith of Lemoore, Calif., the 39.6 clocking in the 440 relay, by Texas Southern, and the 218-3 discus heave, by Jay Silvester of Modesto, Calif.

White Sox

Players Stay Off Field

SARASOTA, Fla. (AP) — Baseball's player strike became a reality Friday when the Chicago White Sox opened camp a week earlier than most clubs.

The White Sox, because of an exhibition series scheduled in Mexico City prior to the opening of spring training games, called their pitchers and catchers in a week early to get in shape.

In all, 21 players showed up for the two-hour workout, but only 12 of them were rostered players. Except for catcher Russ Nixon and pitcher Dan Osinski, the rostered players were all rookies.

Catchers Duane Josephson and Don Pavletich and such front line hurlers like Gary Peters, Joe Horlen, Tommy John, Cisco Carlos, Bob Priddy and Wilbur Wood were missing because the players and owners have failed to agree on a new pension fund.

Private Talks Only Hope For Progress In Viet Talks

PARIS (AP) Despite a public rebuff from the North Vietnamese, American peace negotiators in Paris indicate they are still hopeful the Vietnam talks will soon enter a phase of secret contacts.

After a fruitless six-hour session Thursday, U.S. chief negotiator Henry Cabot Lodge told newsmen: "I don't expect much to come out of these public meetings."

Asked about a Communist report that at least one secret contact took place on American initiative last week, U.S. delegation spokesman William Jordan grinned and repeated his longstanding rule never to comment on secret talks.

He urged newsmen not to insist on detailed replies to all their questions "to permit the art of quiet diplomacy to work its way." Many of the newsmen felt this remark and his grin constituted an unspoken confirmation of the report.

Nguyen Thanh Le, spokesman for the Hanoi delegation, accused the Americans of deliberately "spreading rumors of private meetings like straws in the wind." If the United States has anything it wants to discuss, he added, it can do so at the weekly formal conference sessions. The Thursday meetings have become a regular Thursday propaganda battle at which the opposing sides bombard each other with invective and restate their entrenched positions. The fourth such session Thursday was no exception.

Jordan said Hanoi and the National Liberation Front repeated their "negative positions which amount to an ultimatum, namely, a demand that we abandon South Vietnam and that South victory in California's presidential primary. Romero had gone to the ballroom to hear Kennedy speak and preceded him to the pantry area. Shortly after midnight Romero saw someone coming toward Kennedy.

"I thought it was a person who couldn't wait to shake his hand," Romero said with his heavy Spanish accent. "I seen the guy put a hand at the senator's head. And then I saw a gun."

On cross-examination, defense attorney Russell E. Parsons asked if Kennedy—who died 25 hours later—said anything. "He said, 'Is everybody all right? Is everybody okay?'" Romero answered.

Romero was asked if the man who did the shooting was in the room. He shook his head. Sirhan was asked to stand. "I don't believe that's him," Romero said.

Even Sirhan smiled. Karl Uecker, assistant maître d' at the hotel, said he had been told to escort Kennedy to a second ballroom, a floor below, to address party faithful who couldn't get into the crowded embassy ballroom.

When the senator finished his speech tell us what occurred. A. I was going to make a left turn to go to the Ambassador ballroom but someone said, 'No, he's going to the press room.' I said, this way, senator, and took him to the right."

Edward Minasian of the hotel's catering department testified he heard the plans were changed to accommodate newsmen from the eastern time zone who had to make deadlines. Uecker said that in the pantry he heard something like a firecracker.

"I looked and saw a man with a gun in his hand. I grabbed for the gun . . . I was trying to push the gun away from the senator . . . the man kept shooting. I don't know how many shots. I bent him over the steam table as far as I could."

Bus Drivers Want Protection

CINCINNATI (AP) — Some Cincinnati Transit Co. bus drivers again have brought up the suggestion of a strike in an effort to have the city protect them against robberies.

About 35 drivers met Friday with City Manager Richard Krabach and Safety Director Henry Sandman, reasserting demands for protection following a week marked by two robberies and two attempts.

The drivers said they have been informed that locked fare boxes will not be available until June. They added that they think existing equipment could be adapted to serve as a locked fare box.

VALENTINE BIRTHDAY — Red Cross Volunteers and a friend and neighbor of David Peterman were on hand Friday to celebrate Mr. Peterman's 99th birthday, an annual party initiated by Red Cross personnel several years ago. Vietnam surrender to them." Lodge said he was "disappointed but not disheartened" by the Hanoi-NLF attitude.

Lodge repeated the U.S. proposal to begin a gradual military de-escalation by re-establishing the demilitarized zone between North and South Vietnam.

Xuan Thuy of North Vietnam and the NLF's Tran Buu Kiem again rejected the proposal, saying once more that the conference cannot separate military and political issues. But later in the meeting Kiem called on Lodge to answer "two fundamental questions," whether the United States intends to withdraw its troops and to dismantle its military bases.

Local Girl Hurt In 1-Car Mishap Driver Cited

A Laurelville area girl was injured and the driver of the car she was in was cited for three offenses as a result of an auto accident Saturday morning.

Marsha Graves, 17, Route 2, Laurelville, a passenger in the car, was taken to Berger Hospital for emergency treatment of a severely lacerated face.

Michael McFadden, 19, Route 1, Laurelville, driver of the car, was not injured.

McFadden told Sheriff's Deputy Bill Dountz that he was eastbound on Route 56 at the intersection of Tarlton-Adelphi Road about 1:59 a.m. when the accident occurred. He stated that he was rounding a curve in the road when he saw a car coming at him on the wrong side of the road. McFadden stated that he then drove his car into a ditch to avoid an accident.

AS reconstructed by the sheriff's department, McFadden was southbound on the Tarlton-Adelphi Road, failed to obey a stop sign at the intersection, lost control of his vehicle and went off the right side of the road. McFadden had been drinking prior to the accident, according to the report by Deputy Sheriff Bill Dountz.

McFadden was cited by the sheriff's department for reckless operation of a motor vehicle, failure to obey a stop sign and giving false information to a law officer.

Nixon Having Some Success In Wooing Labor Leaders

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—President Nixon, spurred by organized labor in his election campaign, appears to be quietly trying to woo major union elements with some results.

Leaders of two major groups of the 13.6 million member AFL-CIO already have stated that they see more to be gained under Nixon than labor won in return for its almost total political support of former President Lyndon B. Johnson.

"They really laid down heavy bargains on us," said President Paul Hall of the 39-union Maritime Trades Department in criticizing Democratic refusal to accept labor proposals to strengthen the nation's dwindling merchant fleet.

"If Nixon does anything for maritime, he'll win a lot of friends in the labor movement," Hall said in an interview. Nixon sent Hall a telegram pledging action to strengthen the U.S. Merchant Marine industry.

Earlier, President C. J. Haggerty of the 17-union Building and Construction Trades Department criticized the Johnson administration, saying it treated his group as "a black ogre" in fights over wages and charges of racial discrimination in job training.

Both Hall and Haggerty, while in a minority among the 122 union presidents in the politically powerful labor federation, said they expected a better deal from Nixon's Republican administration on labor matters.

While obviously too early to tell, such a trend could bring Nixon substantial labor support if he runs for reelection in 1972. The AFL-CIO in the past eight years had delivered almost monolithic support to Democratic presidential candidates.

The labor leaders also give Nixon points for not trying to compel a settlement of the two month longshoremen's strike with special legislation such as Johnson had done in some major strikes.

Private Talks Only Hope For Progress In Viet Talks

PARIS (AP) Despite a public rebuff from the North Vietnamese, American peace negotiators in Paris indicate they are still hopeful the Vietnam talks will soon enter a phase of secret contacts.

After a fruitless six-hour session Thursday, U.S. chief negotiator Henry Cabot Lodge told newsmen: "I don't expect much to come out of these public meetings."

Asked about a Communist report that at least one secret contact took place on American initiative last week, U.S. delegation spokesman William Jorden grinned and repeated his long-standing rule never to comment on secret talks.

He urged newsmen not to insist on detailed replies to all their questions "to permit the art of quiet diplomacy to work its way." Many of the newsmen felt this remark and his grin constituted an unspoken confirmation of the report.

Nguyen Thanh Le, spokesman for the Hanoi delegation, accused the Americans of deliberately "spreading rumors of private meetings like straws in the wind." If the United States has anything it wants to discuss, he added, it can do so at the weekly formal conference sessions.

The Thursday meetings have become a regular Thursday propaganda battle at which the opposing sides bombard each other with invective and restate their entrenched positions. The fourth such session Thursday was no exception.

Jorden said Hanoi and the National Liberation Front repeated their "negative positions which amount to an ultimatum, namely, a demand that we abandon South Vietnam and that South victory in California's presidential primary.

Romero had gone to the ballroom to hear Kennedy speak and preceded him to the pantry area. Shortly after midnight Romero saw someone coming toward Kennedy.

"I thought it was a person who couldn't wait to shake his hand," Romero said with his heavy Spanish accent. "I seen the guy put a hand at the senator's head. And then I saw a gun."

"Then I saw Sen. Kennedy stretched out in front of me. I leaned down and picked up his head."

On cross-examination, defense attorney Russell E. Parsons asked if Kennedy—who died 25 hours later—said anything. "He said, 'Is everybody all right? Is everybody okay?'" Romero answered.

Romero was asked if the man who did the shooting was in the room. He shook his head.

Sirhan was asked to stand. "I don't believe that's him," Romero said.

Even Sirhan smiled. Karl Uecker, assistant maitre d' at the hotel, said he had been told to escort Kennedy to a second ballroom, a floor below, to address party faithful who couldn't get into the crowded embassy ballroom.

When the senator finished his speech tell us what occurred.

A. I was going to make a left turn to go to the Ambassador ballroom but someone said, 'No, he's going to the press room.' I said, this way, senator, and took him to the right."

Edward Minasian of the hotel's catering department testified he heard the plans were changed to accommodate newsmen from the eastern time zone who had to make deadlines.

Uecker said that in the pantry he heard something like a firecracker.

"I looked and saw a man with a gun in his hand. I grabbed for the gun . . . I was trying to push the gun away from the senator . . . the man kept shooting. I don't know how many shots. I bent him over the steam table as far as I could."

Bus Drivers Want Protection

CINCINNATI (AP) — Some Cincinnati Transit Co. bus drivers again have brought up the suggestion of a strike in an effort to have the city protect them against robberies.

About 35 drivers met Friday with City Manager Richard Krabach and Safety Director Henry Sandman, reasserting demands for protection following a week marked by two robberies and two attempts.

The drivers said they have been informed that locked fare boxes will not be available until June. They added that they think existing equipment could be adapted to serve as a locked fare box.

Vietnam surrender to them."

Lodge said he was "disappointed but not disheartened" by the Hanoi-NLF attitude.

Lodge repeated the U.S. proposal to begin a gradual military de-escalation by re-establishing the demilitarized zone between North and South Vietnam.

Xuan Thuy of North Vietnam and the NLF's Tran Buu Kiem again rejected the proposal, saying once more that the conference cannot separate military and political issues. But later in the meeting Kiem called on Lodge to answer "two fundamental questions," whether the United States intends to withdraw its troops and to dismantle its military bases.
